Consumer Spotlight: Jennifer Jones Oberlin Opportunity/Vocational Center

"Murray Ridge Center has helped me become a more independent, kindhearted, and caring person who is more confident in herself."

These words were spoken by Jennifer Jones, a 25 year old woman who attends Murray Ridge Center's Oberlin Opportunity and Vocational Center (OOVC). Her touching words highlight the crucial role played by Murray Ridge Center's adult day programs in ensuring that adults with developmental disabilities have ongoing opportunities for engaging activities, skills development, socialization, and participation in the work force.

The OVCs, which are located in Lorain, Elyria, and Oberlin, are places where adults with developmental disabilities, like Jennifer, can interact with others, work and receive a paycheck, and pursue their goals and interests in a safe and friendly environment. While some individuals come to Murray Ridge's Adult Programs from Murray Ridge School, still more come to Murray Ridge from their neighborhood schools.

High school was academically challenging for Jennifer, and she often had feelings of isolation due to her disability.

But happily, she graduated from Wellington High School in 1997, which she describes as the proudest thing she's ever done. "I walked across the stage and knew I could do anything," she said with a smile.

However, starting at the Murray Ridge OOVC changed Jennifer's life in ways she could never have imagined. When she first started at Murray Ridge, Jennifer was scared to make friends and experience life. Through the love and support of consumers and staff, she was able to overcome her anxiety. Although she's experienced much heartbreak, including the loss of a family member and the recent deaths of her therapy dogs, Jennifer was able to lean on Murray Ridge and find the support she needed. She transitioned from a young woman with little self-confidence and very few friends to an adult who has become an independent, confident, and caring friend to countless peers and co-workers at the OOVC.

Her many job responsibilities, including seal and graphics work, and working in the OVC kitchen, have allowed her to develop skills she never knew she had.

And, as a Level 1 Waiver recipient, Jennifer has the ability to get out after hours, and participate actively in her community.

"If I didn't have Murray Ridge, I'd probably be sitting at home doing absolutely nothing," she said. "Murray Ridge Center has made me more confident in myself. They made me care. I really appreciate everything they have done for me. The Murray Ridge staff has supported me through everything, ups and downs, and they treat me like family."

That is how many of the individuals who participate in Murray Ridge Center's many services see it – as a family, with compassion and care the core focus of the community. Where the motto, Helping People... For a Lifetime, is truly just that; a lifetime of help for those who need it the most, and support for their families and caregivers.

From Jennifer Jones' perspective, this is the essential value Murray Ridge Center brings to the community, the developmentally disabled population, and to those who have nowhere else to turn. "I am very blessed to have Murray Ridge's support, because there are a lot of people out there who need it...even more than I do."

Jennifer smiles with friend and co-worker Brittany Tidd at the OOVOC.

BOARD ROOM BRIEFING

The Lorain County Board of DD convened at 12:30 p.m. on May 25, 2012:

Mega Championship Wrestling presented Friends of Murray Ridge with $1347.00; proceeds from Breaking Down Barriers II. The Staff Recognition Award Committee announced they had decided on a 2nd Quarter recipient for the Exceptional Service Award. The annual renewal of the Integrated Service Partnership (ISP) Agreement was approved; the parties and provisions remain the same as in the past. The Board passed a motion to pay for an educational software program called Vizzle during the 2013/2014 school year (at an approximate cost of $8,990); this commitment was a contingency for the award to Murray Ridge School by the Stocker Foundation of a free site license for Vizzle for the 2012/2013 school year. Superintendent Amber Fisher reported on several HCBS Waiver updates. In other news, Superintendent Fisher reported that, based upon trends witnessed during the past month, the LCBDD should expect an increase in our waiver match liability. A third quarter allocation for the Family Support Parent Committee in the amount of $134,211.15 was unanimously approved. The Murray Ridge Support Group will not meet again until August 2nd; September 21st will be the next dance.

The Royal Treatment

For the fourth consecutive year, contestants with the Lorain International Association Princess Pageant reigned over the Murray Ridge Elyria Opportunity/Vocational Center. And, for the first time this year, the princesses also visited the Lorain Opportunity/Vocational Center! The princesses donned their countries' traditional gowns to visit with Murray Ridge consumers.

This year, the princesses were treated to a tour of both facilities, a meet and greet with Murray Ridge consumers, and impromptu dance and photo sessions. In anticipation of the princesses' visit, Murray Ridge Center consumers decorated the Opportunity/Vocational Centers with maps, flags, and other cultural items representing various countries around the world.

Money raised from this event will help assist Lorain County residents with developmental disabilities. Thank you, MCW!

Jim Nagy, wrestler with MCW and staff member at Murray Ridge Center, presented the check at the June Board Meeting.

Everyone Loves a Parade!

Warm weather brings summer festivals, and this year Murray Ridge is proud to be participating in five events throughout Lorain County. Already this summer, adults from our three Opportunity and Vocational Centers, or OVCs, along with Murray Ridge School students who created many of the decorations that were displayed on our accompanying van, marched in the Avon Duck Tape Parade. Lorain Recreation participants, including staff from our Lorain OVC, marched with us at the Lorain International Parade. Parades are a great way to show your community spirit, so put on your sunscreen, grab a chair, and cheer on participants as they spread the word about Murray Ridge. To further support our efforts, sign up today to volunteer at one of the remaining summer events! Call Jenn Judkins at 440-329-3734 to learn more.

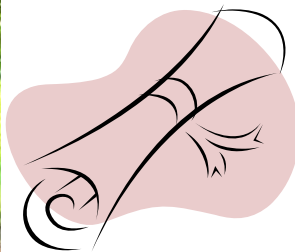

Participants from the LOVC, EOVC, and Murray Ridge School marched in the Avon Duct Tape Festival.

Murray Ridge School Finishes Another Successful Summer Camp!

Summer camps offer students a place to learn and play, and parents the opportunity to keep their kids active in both body and mind, after the school year has ended.

For the 24th year in a row, Murray Ridge School students were invited to participate in the Murray Ridge Day Camp. This year's four-week long adventure allowed campers the opportunity to engage in many enjoyable activities, including swimming and field trips, and to try their hands at a variety of crafts.

This summer's weekly themes were the four seasons, and activities that focused on spring, summer, fall, and winter were planned. Campers were able to learn and have fun in a relaxed setting, staying connected to peers and learning from the dedicated staff of Murray Ridge School, who worked as camp counselors.

"Working summer camp enables the school staff to interact with the students in a purely fun and enriching fashion," said teacher and camp counselor Julie Maurer. "The school staff can just enjoy interacting and working with the student in a non academic way."

Director of Education, Dann Swift, shares Julie's outlook on camp versus school. "Camp is all about fun. It's about planning fun activities, not lessons."

And fun was had by all! Thank you to the teachers and staff of Murray Ridge School who worked hard to ensure that each student was a safe, comfortable, and happy camper!
